As a Citizen, Soldier and Supervisor.

JOHN T. GOULD OF ROCKFORD

He Is the Republican Numinos for Regster of Deeds for Kent County. Biographical.

There is no graver responsibility devolving upon a public servant than the care and custody of the records of land titles. The office demands mature judgment, unswerving fidelity and vigorous business discipline. Delay in the filing of deeds, mortgages or other documents may, at any time, jeopardize valuable property rights and entail endiess hitigation. Collusion with unscrupulous persons might despoil innocent purchasers and promote dishonest acquirement of money. These considerations are worthy of thought in the selection of a register of deeds, as they recall possibilities for malfeas-ance in office which should be guarded against. In the selection of a candidate for the office one of known and tried veracity, moral courage and ma-ture discretion should be chosen.

Brographical, John T. Gould was born in Clinton county, this state, February 27, 1840. His early life was spent upon a farm and his early education derived from the rural schools. In 1858 and 58 he attended school at the seminary at Ypsilanti. In 1856 Mr. Gould became a resident of Kent county. He is now a resident of Rockford, a farmer of wealth and prosperity and a citizen of high standing.

Itis Military Record. Mr. Gould enlisted with the Sixth Michigan cavalry, Company F. He left the state as quartermaster sergeant. His antecquent service com-prised a period of three years and three months, during which time he filled many official positions of trust and grave responsibility. He was made second, and finally first heutenant of the company, and, for a considerable period of his service, while Colonel Kidd was in command of his regiment, and subsequently, he served upon the brigade staff. He was with Sheridan in the Valley of the Shenandoah, was under Custer at Gettyaburg, and afterwards followed Lee to Appomatox. He completed his military service by crossing the plains, declining a captain's commission before returning home.

Lieutenant Gould was mustered out of the service and honorably discharged m November 1865, and returned to his home at Rockford, December 6 following. His military record is one n-table for personal bravery and soldierly sagacity. As an officer of his company and as a member of the brigade staff to which he was attached, he dislantry in action and for his calm judgment in council. By his superiors he was regarded with confidence and esteem. By his comrades in the ranks he was warmly beloved and admired. His Republicantem.

John T. Gould has been a life-long Republican. He cast his first vote for Abranam Lincoln, and has steadfastly aitheared to the principals advocated by the great Emancipator ever since. Though never an office seeker he active interest in political campaigns, and has ever thrown the weight of his influence and activity with the party of intelligence and progress. He has always voted as he snot and talked as he thought. He is a man of firm convictions and strict adherence to the path of duty. While he claims the utmost liberty of thought and expression for himself he allows the same with political opponents, but regards them as neighbors and friends from whom he differs in opinion. He is a man of warm personal attachments wite acquaintance. His social qualities are of a superior order, and his friends cherish his association

The official career of John T. Gould is somewhat extended though briefly told. For the past fourteen years he has been supervisor from Algoma township, without interruption. has never asked or filled any other office. During that time he has been chairman of the board of supervisors once, and as such, appointed the first building committee which had in charge the errection of the new Kent county court house. When he retired from the chairmanship of the board he was promptly placed upon the building committee of the court house, & poston which he filled until the building was completed.

From first to last Mr. Gould has been, and is today, one of the leading members of the board. He has an in timate knowledge of the affairs of the county and is in touch with all the formes which conduce to its welfare. As an officer he has a record of fidelity, ability and experience. Upon that basis he asks the favor of an election to the office of register of His recommendations could not be stronger. If elected, the internets of the public will receive due

HOW THE DRAWBACK WORKS

Secretary Spaulding Denies That Protection is Injurious and Promptly Cites a State Case.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20 .- Acting Secretary of the Treasury Spaulding in Vander Stoipe's hall, on Grandville Secretary of the Treasury Spaulding avenue. Tuesday evening. He will has written a letter to the editor of a mining journal in Michigan in response to recent criticisms on the drawback privileges of the tariff act. The specific charge is that the allowances of drawback on imported material is injurious The meeting that William Alden instead of beneficial to American inter-Smith addressed in South Grand Rapids ests, and the case of iron ore is cited as Wednesday night, was one of the most proof.

Mr. Spaulding says: "While the tariff law provided for the establishment of bonded smelting warehouses, it is evident from the fact that no iron ore is treated in such warehouses that no inducement is offered by the privilege which lead to the use of foreign instead Frank A. Rodgers and Charles A. of domestic iron ore. The smelting establishments now operated under bond are principally devoted to imported utilized by them. This seems to meet the complaint which is made against the alleged discrimination in favor of foreign from ore.

Benefit to Exporters. The drawback law operates for the benefit of those manufacturers who make articles for exportation. Certain foreign materials may in some cases be advantageously used in the process of making such articles. If the manufac-turer were forced to pay the duty upon such materials he could not compete with his rivals in those countries wherein such materials are produced. To equalize his advantage with the for-eign manufacturer the law provides that upon all imported material used by him in the construction of articles for export he shall be entitled to a refund of the duty paid, less 1 per cent. This e ables him to develop a special branch of industry which he could not otherwise maintain, and which gives Chapman, daughter of our leading employment to workmen and laborers merchant, G. L. Chapman, to Mr. in this country, and which incidentally demands many materials produced at

He closes his letter with a long list of articles of iron and steel now exported with benefit of drawback and says the

STUPID DEMOCRATS. He carried a $5,000 infraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few. nor can I subscribe to the doctrine that a protective tariif is unconstitutional. I have no pecuniary interest in manufactures, but I know what protection has done and is doing of the many; one of the great majority bene-fited by it, including those who denounce it for the sake of obtaining political power.

If the leaders of a political party assembled in national convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the presidency and vice presidency choose to stultify themselves by faisifying history, they cannot expect to be followed by others who have any habits of independent thought and action. The learned pundits who were lately assembled at Chicago in national convention of the Democratic party, adopted by a two-thirds vote and against the report of the committee on resolutions the following as a plank in the Democratic plat-

In drafting and voting for this resolution the members either showed dense ignorance of American political history or they manifested a purpose to win votes by deceiving the voters. I cannot, at the bidding of these gentlemen, unlearn the lessons of my whole life. The greater part of my long life has been passed in the study of American political history and

The present style of street dress is re sponsible for a whole lot of awkwardness. A woman can't be a model of grace when she is frantically groping for the tail of her gown. And then when the refractory thing is well in hand, the horrifying thought strikes her that the "sham" is revealing its wearer's poverty. A few more epileptic struggles and hoists, and the silk underskirt goes swish, swash, swash through the rivulets of window cleaning suds, tobacce chewing offal and over crossings where the street sprinkler does his whole duty.

With a wild desire to save the silk skirt -to rescue which means to relinquish the conquered territory in the upper region of dry goods and begin the battle over again-she goes on her tiptoes over the suds and saliva, and tired with that effort takes to her heels on the muddy crossings to save the toes of her shoes from soil and bends forward like one with curvature of the spine. Now it stands to reason that a woman performing such gymnastics on the street can't do her whole duty as a daughter of the gods. In fact I think Hebe herself would succumb if she had to envelop her shapely form in modern draperies .-Washington Star
